Masquerades or Leaves. The amusement mania of 47 drove to gardens of whisky, thus and brandy, and 30 mills, (30) gardens of strong beer has been made in the United States during the last year, more than three gardens to every hour, man, woman and child, white and black, in the country.

Why shall I not the Legislatures of the different States enact laws, prohibiting this wholesale waste—worse than waste, of breadstuffs, when the people are upon the verge of a starvation, on account of the scarcity of grain and high prices?

☞ The "Angel Gabriel" leaves for Europe in a few days. He knew he had been here to little purpose. He is in hopes of meeting with better success on the other side of Jordan.

☞ It is said that General Scott apprehends a very troublesome, if not a protracted war with the Indians. There are symptoms of large combinations, and the Sioux particularly, are possessed with the idea that they hold the United States army at bay, and this is the secret of their numerous depredations.

The purport of the letter was, that a petition having been forwarded from Bellevue a year ago the present month, for the establishment of a Post Office, inquiries were sent from the Post Office Department, answers to which were never received at Washington, consequently the subject was dropped, until this week by Hon. N. B. Giddings, our Delegate in Congress, by whom it was renewed, and to whose recommendation we are indebted for the establishment of our Post Office. Were recollect aright, the questions sent us were duly answered and returned; but it appears they failed to reach the Department.

Soup.

We understand that steps are being taken to build immediately two bridges across the Papillion creek, one directly South of the city plat and the other directly West. The last will be of immediate service to emigrants into the interior, and across the plains, as it opens the way to the only good and practicable route to the Elkhorn river. By crossing the Platte West of Bellevue, the emigrant has a route all the way to the Elkhorn and Loup Fork rivers without the obstruction of a single hill, and over as good a natural road as can be found on the continent. It is not only the best, but it is, by several miles, the nearest, route to the Elkhorn crossings. Emigrants who pass through Council Bluffs and Omaha City, find their way impeded by numerous hills, some of them difficult of ascent. It would be far better for emigrants by way of Council Bluffs to cross down on the Iowa side to St. Mary, a distance of 10 miles, and cross into the City, keeping Fontanelle, Bellevue, and then go up the beautiful Papillion valley, thus avoiding Omaha City and keep the high bluffs close to the Elkhorn. The time spent in reaching the distance from Council Bluffs to St. Mary, is more than saved on the Papillion crossing and in a good road from Bellevue to the Elkhorn, in any and all the circumstances of the case.

NEW NEBRASKA.

The splendid steam ferry boat of the above name just owned by Hon. F. A. Sarpy has commenced her regular trips between St. Mary and Bellevue. She was brought last season for Mr. Sarpy's personal accommodation, and to strengthen the transit and ferry business on which he has a monopoly from the Territory. She is of sufficient power to cross 30 teams at a time.

We apprehend that our friend Gen. S. will reap a rich harvest the present season. Ferry boats with [illegible] Bellevue, Omaha City, Florence and the Elkhorn river, and [illegible] and no time should [illegible] a route established, preparing to settle [illegible] valley of the [illegible] on the Elkhorn, mail [illegible] has [illegible]

REMOVAL OF THE INDIANS.

We are often solicited for information, concerning the removal of the Indians from this country. Every settler has an interest in knowing when the Indians are to be removed, and when they cease to become the exclusive possessors.

Will they be removed this spring, or will they remain during the summer? In reply to these interrogations, we answer, they will go this spring, if treaty stipulations entered into with them by the Government are fulfilled, according to the present wishes of the Indians. Until this is done, they will stay where they are.—As yet, they have made no provisions for traveling, and do not intend to make any until every letter of treaty stipulation is complied with on the part of Government.

A Garrison is to be provided for the protection of the Omahas against their ancient enemies, the Sioux, before they take up their line of march for their new home. Had this been done last fall, they might have been conveyed early this present; but as it is, some considerable time must elapse before their removal can be effected, if it is done at all the present season. The Omahas talk of leaving back to their old village and putting in a crop of corn. If this is done, they will remain until after harvest, and how much longer no one can tell. If the Council could have [illegible] they would [illegible] the fault will be with the Government and not with them.

CAUTION TO BOAT OWNERS.

All persons about to embark their property in boats on the present spring freshet of this Territory will be aware that the current is very rapid, and that proper allowance should be made for the views of the climate and health of this country. The intensity of the cold spoken of, has, in reality, no existence in any ordinary winter, and rarely in the very coldest. We have been a resident of this country nearly eight years, and have no hesitation in pronouncing the climate agreeable and healthy.

We know it is true, that we have shoulder as well as unfeeling, disagreeable winds and severe cold occasionally; but not to such an extent as to become objectionable on the ground of health and comfort.—Probably no country can be named where fewer objections can be raised against the climate. The climate is [illegible] during a large portion of the year. Frosts are of rare occurrence. Showers and rains are unfrequent and of short duration.

The whole amount of snow here during the present winter, put together, hasn't exceeded three inches in depth.

We have seen no country where the sky was clearer and more brilliant than this during [illegible] of the year. In fact, we do believe there is another more delightful in this respect, in the world, than that of Italy.

For the benefit of those who may be coming to, or will at the first favorable opportunity, we subjoin the following Meteorological observations made by us here the past winter, stating the weather each week. The observations were taken at sunrise each morning.

They are the salt and spice of the earth. Who but them start any noble project? They build our cities, and rear our manufactories; they plunge into the forest, and soon a howling wilderness is converted into beautiful places for the abode of man; they whiten the blue ethereal ocean with their sails, and blacken the heavens with their steamers and furnaces. Difficulties deter them not—they grasp with the rapidity of lightning obstacles put in their way, and hurl them away from them with a force like thunder in destroying noxious vapors. Blessings on such men! Their forces and vitality of character, should serve as examples for young men. What is life good for, if it is not actively employed? TIMBER TREES.

The scarcity of timber frequently urged as an objection against the settlement of our vast and beautiful prairies.

It is ungainsayably true that there is a deficiency of timber in Nebraska. But is there nothing to compensate for this deficiency? We believe there is, and that the extent of the deficiency is often greatly exaggerated, and perhaps, never rightly estimated by those coming from heavily timbered countries.

The amount of timber needed for a farm where hedges or stone walls are made to take the place of rails for fences, is very small; and can be raised as well as a crop of corn or wheat. Over two acres of timber land would be sufficient to afford firewood for the largest family, without a diminution of amount. For in the sawing of timber the only advantage to be derived in favor of hedges. A hedge when once brought to perfection requires but a trifling outlay of capital labor to keep it in repair.

The original cost of a hedge is but little if any greater than that of a rail fence of equal length. Carpenters have been employed, and even hedges set in place, although not in perfection, which, in Iowa, we have done for 75 cents per rod, for less than that rate in cultivated and prosperous old settled counties. Hundreds of miles are being added every year to the already lengthy list in cultivation.

We would most respectfully urge it upon our farming brethren to turn their attention to perfecting a hedge fence.

[illegible] DEMOCRATIC MEETING AT OMAHA.

We [illegible] proceedings of the proceedings for the organization of the convention, the Convention was called to order by calling Hon. A. Middleton, of Washington, to the Chair, and appointing Dr. Wells, of Douglas Co., Secretary, the chair appointed a committee to report permanent officers and the Convention was addressed by Gen. Cuming, in favor of the Nebraska bill. The committee then retired, when, upon their return, Hon. Experience Estabrook, of Omaha City, was called to the Chair, and three vice presidents, and Mr. Andrew Kennedy, Secretary, were appointed, the resolutions of which most of the proceedings of the day were passed, we will understand by unanimity, and we understand unanimously, declaring the doctrine of Squatter Sovereignty to be dead to the country. Whereupon a committee consisting of Mr. Lyons of Nemaha, Mr. Hall, of Johnson and Mr. Strickland, of Pierce, was appointed. Mr. Lyons thought the Democracy forgot the past and thought the present ought to be sacred enough, and their organization strong enough to withstand the onslaughts of the Whigs, and was in favor of letting the past rest and look to the future. Whereupon a resolution was introduced by Mr. Lyons of Nemaha, Mr. Hall, of Johnson and Strickland, of Pierce, passed. Read the letter from John S. Crump, Grand Saline Arkansas, Cherokee Nation, bearing date August 10, 1859:

Dr Easterly—Sir: When I was in your city in March last, I purchased one dozen bottles of your Fever and Ague Killer, which you warranted to me. I have sold seven of the dozen, which I also warranted. Your medicine has given entire satisfaction so far, it having effected several cures of the Chills and Fever. One case particularly—a lady who had been afflicted since the latter part of last summer, and had tried a great many remedies, besides having a physician part of the time, all of which failed. She has used a bottle of your medicine, and is now she has entirely recovered of what was entirely cured, and is in good health ever since. In my candid belief it is of a permanent cure.

Respectfully yours, John S. Crump.
